Dulles Gives U. S. Stand On Sessions

Appeals for Steps Aimed at Regaining Public Confidence, Prestige for U.N.

Would Act All Year Under Marshall Plan U.N. Would Meet 12 Months

By LARRY HAUCK
Lake Success, Oct. 14 (AP)—U.S. Delegate John Foster Dulles, whom the Russians have called a "warmonger," opened debate today on Secretary of State Marshall's plan to hold the 57 United Nations in session here the year around.

The American delegate advanced the opening arguments in the regular Assembly's 57-nation political committee.

He said there was "widespread disillusionment" over the progress of the U.N. and that Marshall's proposal for a year-round "Little Assembly" was designed to provide a solution.

Dulles' only reference to earlier Russian charges that the U.S. was attempting to by-pass the Security Council and get around the veto was a declaration that "our proposal, of course, contemplates that the interim committee shall respect fully the primary responsibility of the Security Council for the maintenance of international peace and security."

He then held out an olive branch to the Russians by noting that "we are not committed to any particular formula or language and we welcome constructive suggestions for the improvement of our proposal."

Dulles' seat in debate was only two chairs removed from Russia's No. 1 Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the man who hurled the accusations at the U.S. delegate in the midst of the slashing Russian attacks on a long list of American individuals and institutions.

Debate on the case in the General Assembly's 57-Nation Political Committee was expected to run at least a week.

Murphy was not expected to attend the opening session. This would be in keeping with his policy of remaining at headquarters in New York to direct the affairs of the delegation and the State Department from behind the scenes. There appeared to be little doubt that he advanced the U.S. position in the midst of the frequent Russian vetoes in the Security Council. The Assembly has continued on Page Thirteen

4,000 Teamsters End Strike Against Railway Express

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Some 4,000 A.F.L. teamsters returned to their jobs today, ending a crippling 26-day strike against the Railway Express Agency which had tied up the company's air and rail shipments throughout the metropolitan area.

After agreeing to submit their differences to an emergency mediation board to be headed by President Truman, the striking ship players, members of two locals of the A.F.L. Brotherhood of Teamsters, went back to work last night in terminals in New York, Jersey City, Hoboken and Weehawken, N. J.

They faced the task of clearing nearly 500,000 strike-stagnated shipments that had accumulated in metropolitan storage sheds and shippers were warned by the agency that normal service could not be restored for several days.

The company immediately lifted its embargo on air express shipments in and out of LaGuardia Field and Newark Airport but relaxation of embargoes on inbound and outbound shipments was not expected until later today.

Two had kind words to say about each other in a recent appearance on the same platform in Des Moines. They will have a chance to repeat this act when they speak at a Republican Women's Club convention Thursday in Columbus, Ohio.

"Taft and Stassen backers appear anxious to remain on good terms with each other for two very good reasons:

1. Each camp frankly thinks the other's principal has no chance to win the presidential nomination and hopes to gather in the major share of his delegates when he falls by the wayside.

2. Each camp conceals privately it needs the other's help to halt the expected drive of Gov. Dewey of New York to obtain the nomination again.

Youngster Is Conscious as Ambulance Comes; Dies at Hospital

A seven-year-old little girl, an ice cream stick clutched in her hand, was fatally injured Monday at Port Ewen when she was struck by an automobile as she followed her brother across the highway. She was caught on the bumper of the car, which swerved and struck a parked automobile, crushing her body between them.

She was little Helen Marie Relyea, brown-haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Relyea, 13 Canal street, Port Ewen.

The tragedy was enacted at 3:45 p. m. yesterday afternoon, the sheriff's office said. County Identification Officer Leonard Belmore gave the following account of the accident:

Helen and her nine-year-old brother, George, had gone to Jump's market for kerosene. From there, they went to the post office across the street, and then to a corner candy store where Helen bought herself a popsicle.

George then crossed the highway, Route 9-W, towards Jump's again, believing his sister was behind him. The little girl, however, had lingered on the other side of the street and when she attempted to follow her brother the accident occurred.

She was struck by a southbound car driven by Mrs. Albert E. Ligourie, 840 Montauk avenue, New London, Conn. Attempting to avoid the child, Mrs. Ligourie swerved her car, but the little girl was caught on the grill and bumper.

The impact of the blow and the attempted swerve caused the car to cross the highway, and it struck a parked automobile. No one was injured in this second car crash, but the little girl was caught on the grill and bumper.

The little girl died of internal injuries, Coroner Kelly reported. The sheriff's office said she suffered a ruptured liver, ruptured spleen, fractured ribs and fractured pelvis.

She attended Public School 15 in Port Ewen, and was a member of the Methodist Sunday school. Her body was taken to the W. N. Conner funeral home. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. Burial will be at Mt. Marion cemetery.

In addition to her brother George, Helen had three sisters, Margaret, Shirley and Peggy Lee, and a second brother, George. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Markle of LeFevre Falls, and Mrs. Daniel Relyea of Port Ewen.

Reinstatement Is Asked

Patricia Schmidt 'Hardly Knows How or When' She Fired Fatal Shot on Boat

Havana, Oct. 14 (AP)—Patricia Schmidt told the Audiencia court today "I hardly know how or when" she fired the shot which felled her yachtman lover, John Lester Mee of Chicago.

The Toledo, Ohio, dancer is on trial for murder last April aboard the yacht Satira in Havana harbor. The prosecution has asked a 30-year prison sentence. As in the first court session last Wednesday, the doe-eyed dancer called her sweetheart "Jack."

Responding to questions of Jose Manuel Puentes Carretero, public prosecutor, Patricia, clad in black, testified:

"Jack said he was going to kill me. I could not believe the words I heard. He reached to the right and I saw him reach for a sword. 'Like a flash in my mind, I remembered the gun in the drawer beside me. I grabbed the gun and told him, 'Jack look out, I've got a gun.'"

"The shot was fired, I hardly know how or when."

Patricia posed to indicate the positions she and Mee occupied when the shot was fired. Under close questioning, she stated that Mee was turning to the right to get the sword, which she had used in exotic, oriental dances.

"Where was Jackson?" the prosecutor asked, referring to Charles Jackson of River Forest, Ill., who was accused of concealing facts.

"Jackson was aboard but in his separate quarters," she replied.

"Did you call to him for help?"

"I cried, hoping he would hear me."

Then her voice became tense and louder as she told how Mee fell to the floor:

"I started to run up the ladder but Jack said he was hurt and asked me to come to him. I saw he was wounded in the neck. I ran up and called Jackson."

The prosecutor asked her if she identified herself as Mee's wife at the hospital, and the dancer said she did.

Miss Schmidt testified she signed a statement to secret police but that it was in Spanish and she did not understand it.

She began to weep as she described how authorities questioned her.

"The Cuban procedure is so different from ours," Patricia sobbed. "I did not know who questioned me or whom I made statements to."

"Jackson begged me to say it was an accident."

22 Rainless Days Affect Apple Crop; Water Supplies Low

Forest Fire Dangers in Area Increase; Gilboa Is Near Point of Complete Drainage; Apples Ripen Too Early for Growers' Liking

A premature harvest of late apple crops, scattered reports of water shortage and a serious danger of forest fires, were listed today as damaging outgrowths of 22 consecutive rainless days in the region.

This October, meanwhile, described generally as the most beautiful in many years, appears to be making a record for sunny days and unusually mild temperatures, as forecasts today promised continued sunshine.

Lack of rain, however, is reducing the water supply of the Ashokan reservoir daily and the Gilboa is nearing the stage of complete drainage, officials of the New York city water department said today.

The dry weather is not expected to postpone the start of the hunting season in the Catskills, but the state conservation department indicated a "slight possibility" of imposing a restriction if the weather continues.

Most unusual among the effects of the weather is the premature ripening and dropping of late apple crops, according to Albert Kurdt, local Farm Bureau manager.

Many later apple crops already have been harvested and others normally not ready for harvesting until the end of the month are being picked and shipped now.

This is causing schedule upsets and general confusion in the packing houses where virtually all the apples are packed.

The Council includes the following locals among its membership: Boilemakers Local 720, Carpenters Local 720.

Gales, High Tides Strike North Carolina Outer Banks

Hatteras, N. C., Oct. 14 (AP)—Gales and high tides hit the North Carolina outer banks today and cut telephone communications with the mainland as a tropical hurricane passed 130 miles due east of Hatteras.

The Coast Guard said it had little fear however for the safety of residents along the sparsely populated strand, as the 40 to 50 miles an hour winds lashing it were not unusual. The storm had caused millions of dollars of flood damage on the lower east coast of Florida.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was moving in a north by northeast direction with 80-mile winds near its center. In a 4:30 a. m. (E.S.T.) advisory, the bureau said winds would increase along the Virginia coast and reach moderate gale force and cause rather high tides before the day ends.

The bureau also said the storm, moving about 15 miles an hour, would probably continue out over the ocean because of a large high pressure area extending from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

The first report of damage along the Carolina coast, toward which the storm curved after whirling 500 miles out to sea, came from Marshallburg, near Cape Lookout. High tides picked up a 46-foot party boat, previously grounded, and plunged it into a beach cottage.

Florida, meanwhile, continued to count its storm damage, caused principally by floods following tropical rains accompanying the storm. National Guard units were ordered to armed patrol duty in

Argentina Has Grain but Big Problem Is Getting It to Ships

By LAURENCE F. STUNTZ

Buenos Aires, Oct. 14 (AP)—Argentina's farmers have grain for hungry Europe, but getting it to port and loaded on ships will be the bottleneck.

The U. S. Army, faced with hunger in the occupied zones, has sent a mission here to discuss how much grain is available, how much can be shipped and how much it will cost. Army headquarters in Europe said they needed 1,000,000 tons of wheat and 500,000 tons of corn.

Main trade circles estimate there is enough surplus grain inland to fill the army's needs. The railroads say that bringing 1,500,000 tons to port in 90 days "is not impossible." But shipping men doubt Argentine ports could load the additional 10 ships a month necessary to move it.

Million Tons in 90 Days

A roundup of estimates indicates that a million tons is about the maximum which could be shipped in 90 days from the signing of any contract.

Grain men say they aren't sure how much wheat and corn are still on the farms or in inland elevators. This year's wheat crop of around 8,000,000 bushels was one of the largest on record. Roughly 1,200,000 tons has been shipped and Argentina's 16,000,000 inhabitants will eat a lot of what is left. The carryover from last year's small crop is an unknown factor, but the best opinion is that there is still 1,000,000 tons of wheat available and 500,000 tons of corn. Some of the corn may be in bad condition.

Movement of grain from farm storage to railroad stations depends on trucks. Last year, during a similar emergency, the United States sent 500 trucks here. Since then Argentina has bought thousands more from the United States and Canada. Gas-line to keep them moving is something else again. Argentina is suffering a gasoline shortage.

Locomotives Short

Railroad freight men say there is no serious shortage of freight cars but that the railroads have their own bottleneck—locomotives. Argentina traditionally buys engines from England, which has exported none here since 1939 and can't even do much about sending repair parts. There are no new engines and many of the old ones are out of service. The narrow gauge government lines, which carry important grain loadings, have ordered locomotives from the United States but the broad gauge lines constitute two-thirds of the total mileage of the country.

This year, the best rail shipments in a 90-day period were 990,000 tons from June through August. Winter shipments to Europe would not interfere with the regular movement of grain, but at sea on board the trouble begins. A million and a half tons of grain would load 217 ships, figuring 7,000 tons average loading. This means loading 70 ships a month—and shipping men say it can't be done.

The port of Buenos Aires is jammed with vessels waiting up to six weeks for berths. Other main grain shipping ports are Rosario and Bahia Blanca, but they are shallow and ships partially loaded there would have to come to deep water Buenos Aires to complete their cargo.

There is still a further problem, since Argentina has already sold about all the corn she could normally export in the next few months, unless these previous buyers, including England and Holland, are willing to wait, any U. S. Army purchases could not move until well into next year.

Hospital Directors Reject All Bids

Ellenville, Oct. 13—All bids for construction of the contemplated addition to the Veterans Memorial Hospital were rejected by the board of directors at their meeting Tuesday night. Reason given was that the bids were so much higher than the architect's estimate.

With the amount raised so far for the building sum, as reported, considerably less than the architect's estimate for the work, the directors found themselves facing an impasse when they totaled the lowest bids submitted and found the sum about two and a half times more than the estimate.

Lowest bids received were: General construction, I. O. Slutsky, $178,446; plumbing and heating, Cohn & Kramer, Inc., $65,000; electrical work, John D. Krushner, $12,115. These total $255,561 as against the architect's estimate of $100,000 to $110,000.

The board of directors have urged all sustaining members of the hospital to attend the annual meeting Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Board of Estimate Will Discuss Plea

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Triboro Coach Corporation's plea for financial concessions in the form of higher fares or a reduction in franchise payments will be discussed today by the board of estimate and representatives of the board of transportation, Mayor William O'Dwyer says.

The company, which operates 13 bus routes in Queens, has informed the city that it will surrender its franchise unless granted financial relief.

George Trosk, attorney for the company, said that Triboro lost $72,000 during the first six months of 1947 and estimated that the total loss for the year would be $145,000.

"It's a very serious situation, if what they say is true," the mayor said after a conference with company officials.

Accomplishments Are Cited Relative to Those in Office

Woodstock, Oct. 14.—During the past four years Woodstock has grown considerably and many of its new residents are not familiar with the qualifications of the men who run their town, the majority of whom will come up for re-election this year. It has been suggested that the newcomers as well as the older residents would like a resume of the accomplishments of the members of their Town Board, while in office.

Kenneth L. Wilson, Republican candidate for re-election as town supervisor has no opposition in the forthcoming election. According to many residents questioned on this score, it was learned that this unusual fact is due to his progressiveness during the past four years. His first consideration has always been that of improving the town of Woodstock.

Outstanding in this regard, it was learned, has been his foresight in anticipating the need for a town water supply which he applied for through the Post War Planning requesting funds to assist in establishing a water district. Had the application been delayed, the town would have received no financial aid from the state, as such assistance has now been discontinued.

This is considered to be one of the town's most vital needs, not only from the standpoint of health, but also as the means to eliminate existing fire hazards. "A fire in the village at this or any other extremely dry period," said one resident, "might become a major catastrophe for the town as the streams are too low to be of any appreciable help."

Through Supervisor Wilson's efforts, a survey of traffic conditions was made by the state and the resulting layout of speed zones, which have contributed considerably toward the safety of Woodstock residents.

Helped Art League
The return of the Art Students League to Woodstock was in part due to Mr. Wilson's work with the Kingston Water Board to persuade its members to lease a portion of their lands in Woodstock to the League group. For his success in this regard, the Board of Control of the League have commended Supervisor Wilson. "There is no doubt in Mr. Wilson's mind that in the years to come the town will be greatly benefited by this project."

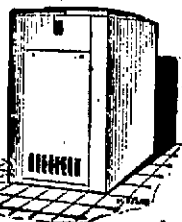

Efficient Handling
The efficient handling of the town's affairs under Mr. Wilson has received the approval of the Bureau of Audit and Control. Interested in Youth
Kenneth Wilson has always championed activities for the younger residents of the town. A recent example of this is his assistance in obtaining the Town Hall for their basketball games. The youngsters as well as their parents have expressed their appreciation for his interest.

Supervisor Wilson is well known throughout Ulster county and has been active on many committees of the Board of Supervisors including the Salary Committee, Printing Committee, chairman, Highway Accounts Committee, Ulster County Publicity Committee, Committee on County Owned Tax Sales Properties, and the Committee on the Propagation of Game. His efficient and conscientious work on these committees has been beneficial not only in the Town of Woodstock but many other towns in the county as well.

No Matter Too Small
Mr. Wilson is a member of Masonic Lodge 10, Kingston; 193, Saugerties, a member of the Shrine, active in the Woodstock Fish and Game Club, the Woodstock Fire Company, Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club, Ulster County Fox Hunter's Association and the Boy Scouts. He was recently elected vice-president of the Woodstock war memorial group.

Elwyn Efficient
Besides his efficient handling of the town's affairs, Supervisor Wilson is also popular with his neighbors because they know an idea they may have for improving the town will always be heard by a man who is of an open mind, keen and interested in the betterment of his town. Suggestions, no matter how small, are worthy of his attention and decision.

It is expected that during the next two years, Supervisor Wilson will have an opportunity to see his major projects come to a successful conclusion and others started.

Woodstock Artists Are

Honored at Carnegie

Woodstock artists received further honors last week when Carnegie Institute opened its ration-free annual exhibition on Friday, and a jury composed of Homer St. Gaudens, Leon Kroll, Paul Sample, and Eugene Speicher, awarded third prize to Eric Isenburger for his painting "Playing the Banjo" and third honorable mention to John W. Taylor for his work, "The Tower".

In this competition three prizes and three honorable mentions are awarded.

Three Painters Receive Pennsylvania Honors

Woodstock, Oct. 14.—The work of Doris Lee, Edward Millman and Fletcher Martin, three prominent Woodstock artists, was very much in evidence on Monday evening, October 13, when Pennsylvania week was officially opened with a dinner given by Senator Edward Martin, former governor, in honor of Governor of Pennsylvania James H. Duff, at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts, in Philadelphia.

The Woodstock artists are three of a group of 14 chosen for their outstanding ability by Associated American Artists "to create a dramatic record of Pennsylvania and its contemporary people." The paintings, water colors, and gouaches will be on view in Philadelphia through October 25. They will then go on a tour of the state of Pennsylvania, beginning with Pittsburgh, and including Harrisburg, State College, Reading and Erie, following which they will be permanently housed in the state capitol in Harrisburg.

Choice of the subjects was for the most part left up to the artists themselves. Doris Lee selected the rural section of Pennsylvania, the Easton, Lancaster and Pottsville sections, and will have on exhibition four oils and three gouaches, including Harrisburg from across Susquehanna, Hex Bams Fruit of Pennsylvania, Trout Fishing in Pocono, Doorway in Lancaster, and Delaware Water Gap.

Fletcher Martin has always been interested in the drama of the coal mining industry and chose this subject for his paintings. While working on this commission, Mr. Martin spent much time in the mines, some 1200 feet underground and five miles from the shaft. His painting was done in the Wilkes-Barre-Pittsburgh section. On view in the exhibition will be three oils and four water colors representing the coal mining industry by Fletcher Martin.

The steel industry was covered by Edward Millman, also a prominent Woodstock artist. Eddie would have liked to do the coal industry but Fletcher Martin had the first bid to it so that the steel will be represented in the exhibition by several oils and water colors.

Michigan Project
During an interview with Doris Lee it was learned that Michigan State has undertaken a similar project to that of Pennsylvania.

The selection of artists for the Michigan commission was made by a jury composed of all museum directors in the state: Doris Lee and Arnold Blanch are the two Woodstock artists chosen for this project. In his paintings, Arnold will depict Sports Life in Michigan, including lake and stream fishing, hunting, camping, etc. Doris has selected for her subjects, the early Spring wildflowers of the state, fruit and architecture, which she says "is distinctly different from other states."

Miss Lee expressed a hope that New York state might fall in line with this idea of creating a dramatic record of the state and its contemporary people and said, "that would really be wonderful because New York is so unlimited."

Harder Capable
Mr. Wilson complimented Marjorie Harder, Republican nominee for assessor when he said "She is capable and extremely conscientious. This work would not be entirely new for Mrs. Harder as she is experienced on the book work connected with the duties of assessor, having written the books for the residents of Woodstock. The state troopers and deputy sheriffs have found him available to try cases any hour of the day or night."

Braendly Always Ready
It is a well known fact that George J. Braendly, Republican nominee for justice of the peace, has been untiring in his efforts to serve the residents of Woodstock. The state troopers and deputy sheriffs have found him available to try cases any hour of the day or night.

Judge Braendly served for 25 years on the New York city police force and received an honorable mention for former Commissioner Enright for the able and efficient manner in which he performed his duties. While serving on the police force he had an opportunity to become well acquainted with court procedure which has assisted him in becoming an able Justice of the Peace.

Judge Braendly is a member of Masonic Lodge No. 193, Saugerties, the Woodstock Fish and Game Club, the Fire Company, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, Bears-ville Lodge, and is active in the Boy Scouts and the Dutch Reformed Church.

Wilber in 16 Years
Republican nominee for Assessor, William H. Wilber, is ineligible to the board as he has served for 16 years in this office. It has often been stated that with uncanny accuracy he can bound practically all properties in the township, and because of this ability he is extremely important as a member of the Board of Assessors.

DeGraff Serves Well
The man who cares for the town's roads is Benjamin DeGraff, town superintendent of highways. There are 78 miles of these roads to be looked after in all kinds of weather. Mr. DeGraff stated at a recent Town Board meeting that some snowy days he and his men were required to travel some 350 miles during the day and night to keep the town roads open. In spite of being hampered to a to be $19,925. To apply against this sum will be the anticipated highway revenues from the state of $2,925.00. Included in his budget are amounts of $1,200 for the bridge fund, $8,655.00 for the machinery fund including payments on new truck, and an item of $68 for snow, miscellaneous.

Fire commission budget includes items of special service, $150; purchase of equipment, repairs and upkeep, $800; insurance, $375; telephone $100; printing, $20; incidentals, $100; establishment of fire holds (new project) $300.

One taxpayer attending the meeting suggested the purchase of refuse cans to be placed in the village. Harry Kutzschbach volunteered the information that the American Legion had ordered such receptacles which should be received about the first of November and will be donated to the town.

The number of privately owned saddle horses in the town of Woodstock is, ever on the increase. There are now about one hundred in the town and as a protection to riders and automobile drivers, such recommendations as having reflectors on saddles and the carrying of flashlights for night riding were made. It was also stated that some of the riders trespass on private property without permission and cut up lawns. Because all riders in the town of Woodstock are not members of the Woodstock Riding Club and in order to prevent the club from being blamed for such misdeeds, Supervisor Wilson suggested members having club emblems on their tack. George Hard, vice-president of the Riding Club, was present and will offer these constructive suggestions to the club members.

Mr. Wilson also announced that arrangements will be made for the construction and maintenance of a town lethal chamber similar to that recommended over a period of years by Mrs. Marion Bullard.

Members of the Town Board present at the meeting included Kenneth L. Wilson, town supervisor; Benjamin DeGraff, town superintendent of highways; Roland Shultis, councilman; Joseph Fitzsimmons, justice of the peace; George J. Braendly, justice of the peace, and Grant Elwyn, town clerk.

New Rochelle Man Is Arrested by F.B.I.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation disclosed that Louis D'Andrea, 31, of New Rochelle, N. Y., had been arrested on charges of robbing three Malvern, Pa., persons and forcing them at gunpoint to drive him to Newark, N. J., September 20.

Lee V. Boardman, special F.B.I. agent here, said D'Andrea was arrested in Tampa, Fla., and waived extradition.

Boardman said D'Andrea's victims were Anthony R. Ricci, tavern owner of Malvern; Ralph Friedhofer, one of his employees, and Amerigo Colona, a patron.

Boardman said D'Andrea robbed them of $165 at the tavern, forced the three men into Colona's automobile and ordered them to drive him to Newark.

The F.B.I. agent said the three men were then admonished by D'Andrea:

"Keep your mouths shut. I'll let you go, but if you talk I'll send my gang over from New York and they'll wreck your place and kill you all." Boardman said that despite this threat the three men went to the F.B.I., leading to D'Andrea's arrest.

After patiently waiting his turn, the gentleman was finally served a bowl of soup. When the waiter placed it before him, he said: "Walter, I can't eat this soup." "For some unknown reason, without any questioning, the polite waiter took the bowl away and brought a second bowl of steaming hot soup and set it before the customer, saying: "There, sir. I guess you'll find that bowl of soup all right!"

"No," he replied after looking at it. "I can't eat this soup either."

The waiter rushed away for the proprietor who came at once and inquired solicitously: "What is the matter, sir. Why can't you eat that soup?"

"Because," replied the guest, "I haven't any spoon!"

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE
On a Couch Car in Minnesota, Oct. 14 (AP)—Monologue in a smoking car:
"Whadja say your name was? Hal Boyle? Are you the fellow that goes around the country writing stories about people?"
"You are, really? Have a cigar. No, go ahead. Take one. It's good—two for a quarter."
"What a small world it is. So you're Hal Boyle. You sure must lead an interesting life. Travel all the time don't you; that's something."
"Well, I've had an interesting life, too. Real interesting. What a book it would make! If I could only put it down in words. But that's something I never could do. Never could work one of those typewriters. Never had the education."
"But my life would make a real story. Better than most of the novels you read nowadays. Lotta trash, most of them."
"Say, I got an idea, Mr. Boyle."

Why don't you help me write my life story? I'll bet we could sell it to the movies and make a million dollars. And don't worry. I'll take care of you. You'd get your share, okay. I'd see to that. "We could hold up in a hotel room somewhere for a week, and I could just talk the story out to you. Then you could put it down on paper. That wouldn't be so hard, would it?"
"What's the story? Well, I'll tell you. It's all complicated and mixed up—just like life really is. You see, I used to be a hop head—yep, that's right, a dope fiend. Now I'm just a plain drunk."
"But when I'm sober, Mr. Boyle, I'm as good a salesman as ever lived. You know why? Because I use psychology. I study each customer before I try to sell him. And another thing, I know my product perfectly. That's important. You gotta know your product."
"Oh, yes, you said you wanted to know about the story. Well, it is the story of a boy who goes over to France in the First World War and comes back and marries the girl he thinks he loves. But he finds out it is a terrible mistake. He is in and out of hospitals for years, and he finds out his wife isn't behaving right. So after 35 years he decides to call it quits, and they divorce."
"So after all these years the fellow has a chance to be happy. He meets another girl, gives up drinking and gets married again. But it doesn't work out either. He takes up drinking again and his second wife leaves him, and he gets drunk and climbs on a train and doesn't care where it takes him."
"That's the idea of the story, Mr. Boyle. Course there's lots of things I left out, such as how the fellow got on the dope habit. But I think the story shows what happens to a man when love falls him."

"I don't know whether the story should have a sad or happy ending. I don't see how it could be happy. Perhaps it should end up with him going back to a hospital. By golly, that's a good idea! Tell you what, Mr. Boyle, if you'll help me write the story, I'll fix it up so as to really go in to a hospital—that'll make the ending true. Course there won't really be anything wrong with me, and I'll leave right away, but it'll make the folks feel sorry about my whole life."
"Whatcha say, Mr. Boyle? What a movie it would make! Bet it would even make my first wife cry. And you don't have to worry about me. I'll take care of you."

A.F.L. Convention Is Likely to Hear From John L. Lewis

San Francisco, Oct. 14 (AP)—John L. Lewis, who hasn't uttered a word at the A.F.L. convention thus far, will have his chance today to blast fellow unionists who bow to the Taft-Hartley Act.

A proposal to amend the A.F.L.'s 66-year-old constitution to abolish the office of vice-president—a move directed at Lewis—will be offered this afternoon, according to convention plan. The shaggy-haired mine leader is expected to strike back.

David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies' Garment Workers and chairman of the committee on laws, said he would report the proposed amendment to the floor as soon as the schedule permitted.

Lewis is one of the 13 vice-presidents on the 15-man executive council. The plan to strip him and 12 colleagues of their titles as officers was adopted by the council 12 to 1, with Lewis casting the only negative vote. The convention's 700 delegates have the final say on a constitutional amendment, however, and two-thirds of them must uphold the change. Adoption of the amendment would leave only President William Green and Secretary-Treasurer George Meany as "officers." Lewis would be a "council member."

The U.M.W. chief refused to sign the affidavit required of all labor organization officers disavowing Communism, and for more than five weeks he blocked compliance with the act by all 305 A.F.L. national unions. Most of the leaders wanted to sign the affidavits to become eligible to use the National Labor Relations Board.

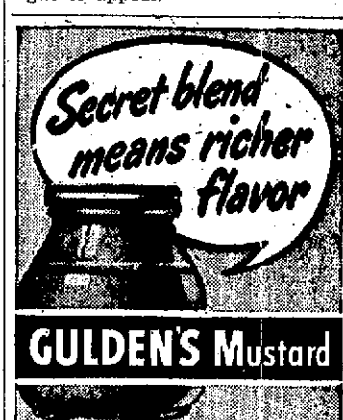

The sting was taken out of Lewis' defiance a week ago when the N.L.R.B. itself decided that the mine leader's signature—as an officer of the A.F.L.—was not necessary in order to make the big unions eligible to use the board. However, it still left about 300,000 members of scattered federal local dependent on the A.F.L.'s 15 top officers for signature which would permit them to use the board's facilities.

Lewis also faces a floor battle over efforts to liquidate District 50 and divide its membership among old-line unions with jurisdiction in the chemical, construction and other fields in which District 50 organizations have operated. Lewis' younger brother, A. D. (Denny) Lewis, is head of District 50.

Whence Named

Legend has it that "cocktail" is an Aztec word and that "the liquor was discovered by a Toltec noble, who sent it by the hand of his daughter, Xochitl, to the king, who promptly named it 'Xochitl,' whence 'cocktail.'"

One-half of the vegetables eaten in the United States are grown in family gardens, according to estimates.

My name is Kenneth Carter, I'm the "Yes" man at Personal Finance Co. that is—I'm the man who likes to say "Yes" to requests for Personal Loans. You see—I'm the manager of our office—the man who's responsible for building up our business. The more times I say "Yes" to requests for loans—the more business we do. And since making Personal Loans of $25 to $250 is more in our ONLY business—that's mighty important to me.

Therefore, if you need extra cash at any time—whether a little for a short time or a lot for a long time—you can depend on my doing my best to say "yes" to you.

Next time you can use a loan give me a chance to say "Yes"—won't you? I'll consider it a favor. SEE ME at PERSONAL FINANCE CO., of New York, 2nd floor, over Newberry's, 319 Wall St., or Phone ma at Kingston 3470.

Single Unit HEARING AID
FRIDAY, OCT. 17th, 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.
Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston, N. Y.
(Ask at Desk for Room Number)

Compare the pictures of the same person with the hearing aid in the ear and with Beltone's Invisimold Hearing Aid. See how very inconspicuous the hearing aid is with the Invisimold. Remember that there is no weight in the ear when the Invisimold is worn. A deeply recessed crystal-clear lucite mold with a small, almost invisible plastic tube, channels the sound over the ear through the tubing where it fastens to the receiver tucked in a woman's hair or under a man's collar.

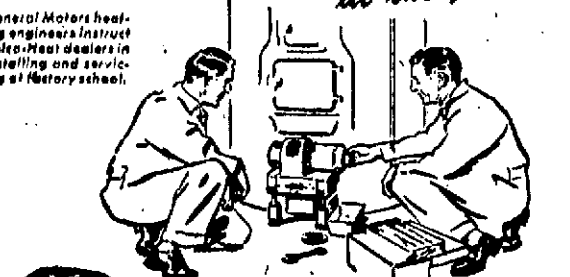

You can actually walk down the street without anyone being aware that you have a hearing aid on. A woman can fix her hair in any style she wants and still know that the hearing aid will not attract attention. Ever since I have been in the business, for 17 years, the whole hearing aid industry has dreamed of a way properly to conceal the hearing aid so that it would be unnoticed. Now, it not only can be but it is with Beltone's new Invisimold Hearing Aid. You will want to see it; you will want to try it; you will want to enjoy the realization that such an amazing advance has been made for the convenience and unobtrusiveness of wearing a hearing aid. Be sure to come to the hotel to see it.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

MUST I TELL MY AGE?

This very human question comes from a bride-to-be: "I am to be married soon to a man who is six months younger than I am. I know everyone believes he's older because he looks it. Do you think I'll have to give my right age when we go for the marriage license? Isn't a woman privileged at this one time in her life to make herself sound a little younger?"

Perhaps you would do well to remember the old proverb: "A lie is married as soon as it is born and its progeny soon outnumber those of Adam." In short, it seems to me that an old family friend sooner or later is sure to come along and say, "Oh, yes, I know. She is exactly 33 this coming November because I was waiting for my Hughie that same time and Hughie is just one week younger."

Don't Count the Days

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if I am old-fashioned or too strict about returning calls on newcomers? When new people come here to live, I make an effort to call on them and welcome them. I maintain that these calls must be returned within 10 days and if they are not returned, it is taken to mean that the person called upon does not want new friendships. Some people tell me that that is all out of fashion now. Will you please set me straight on this.

Answer: It is both proper and kind to call on newcomers. Carelessness on their parts in not returning your—or other—visits within a limited time should not be taken as indifference to your friendliness. Remember that the great majority of us are prone to put off until tomorrow that which we intended to do today. At least don't judge them by anything short of their friendliness when you meet.

Introducing Son-in-Law

Dear Mrs. Post: How does a father-in-law introduce his son-in-law to acquaintances? Does he say, (1) "This is my son-in-law," (2) "This is my son" (3) or "This is my daughter's husband?"

Answer: (1) Usually, or "John Smith, my son-in-law." (2) Never—because not true. (3) Sometimes.

Would you like to know the correct way to introduce your family or friends? Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Introductions," is very informative on the subject. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Reader Service

Obey Rules Of Safety When You Bathe Baby

Are you one of the thousands who want to adopt a child? Here are answers to some of the most-frequently asked questions on the subject.

What do I do first? Write your State Department of Welfare for the adoption agency nearest your home.

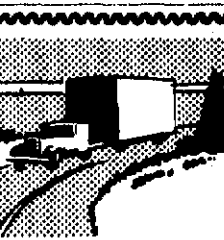

What happens there? Go prepared to answer personal questions—which are kept confidential—about your home life, marriage, and the type of child you want.

What is the minimum income? No definite figure is set. Farm people, for instance, have small cash income but provide most of their needs from the land.

Can I adopt a child if I already have a family? Yes. Usually adoptive parents are childless but a family meeting other requirements can adopt a child.

You will want to read actual case-histories of adoptions, the tragedy of black market babies, how children are tested before placement—to be found in our new Reader Service booklet No. 205, a consensation of the book, "Adopting a Child," by Frances Lockridge, just published. Agencies listed by states.

Send 25c (coin) for "Adopting a Child" to The Kingston Daily Freeman, Reader Service, 243 West 17th street, New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address with zone, booklet title and No. 205.

Kelder Blasts 688, Jack's Hit 1099

Veteran Ace Has City Loop String 245, 203 and 234

High scores flourished in the City Bowling League last night, with Randy Kelder blasting a 682 triple and Jack's Restaurant toppling 1099 pins in their first game against Jones Dairy.

Both are seasonal records for the traveling circuit. Kelder reeled off a string of 245, 203 and 234 to pace Schneider's Jewelers to a split decision over Livingstons. Phil Masters, Livingston anchor, knocked off 633 with 168, 243 and 222.

Roux Hits 230
Jack's totaled 2945, posting 961 and 985 after missing the coveted 1100 by a single pin. In the 1099 blast, Ray Roux led with 230. Other scores were Weisaupt 223, Dick Howard 226, Phil Corrado 205, and Johnny Ferraro 215. Weisaupt tripled 634 and Ferraro finished with 601. At Kelder and Jones had 225 singles for the Dairyman.

Immanuel upset the Colonials, 2-1, if such can be considered an upset, behind Bill Thiel's 213 and 260.

J.M.C.A. won two from the Central Hudson, Jack Haulenbeck was high with 216 and 279.

Jack's Grill shut out the Bull Market, as Howard Wood shot 235-595 and Herb Van Deusen added 224.

Man Takes Woman From Sanitarium, Flies to Norway

Stockholm, Oct. 14 (AP)—Swedish police reported today that a man disguised in a doctor's white coat had broken into a Stockholm sanitarium yesterday, freed a scantily-clad woman inmate and fled with her to Norway in a light two-seater sports plane.

Dispatches from Norway said the couple later had made a forced landing in a mountain meadow near Kongsberg and were being held by Norwegian authorities pending extradition orders from Sweden.

Norwegian police identified the pair, the dispatches said, as Lt. Thorsten Akrell of Stockholm, a 34-year-old Swedish pilot, and Mrs. Louise Forsell Kaage, 25.

Dr. Jacob Forsell, Stockholm physician, said the woman was his sister—the pretty blonde writer of a best-selling murder mystery and the daughter of the late John Forsell, chief of the Stockholm Royal Opera Company.

Mrs. Kaage, whose right hand was bitten off by a police bear at the Stockholm Zoo when she was a child, had made a number of previous flights with Akrell in his plane. Early this year she suffered a fractured skull in a forced landing.

The Stockholm Tidningen published what it described as a telephone interview with the couple in which they were quoted as saying they had hoped eventually to be married and go to America.

The Tidningen said Mrs. Kaage declared that she had entered the hospital recently of her own accord "to get a quiet room and be left alone by people to do some work."

"Instead," she was quoted as saying, "they put me in a room with a lot of people and I was treated in such a way I couldn't stand it any longer."

Told of Mistreatment
The Tidningen quoted Akrell as saying he had visited Mrs. Kaage at the sanitarium last Sunday and she told him at that time that she had been "harassed and mistreated." It was then, the paper said, that Akrell decided to take her away.

Akrell recounted, Tidningen went on, that he sealed a fence around the hospital at 8 a. m. yesterday, climbed through a window and got hold of a doctor's white coat so the nurses would take me for a doctor.

"When they didn't want to give me the keys and open the doors, I had no other recourse than to scare them plenty," the paper quoted him as saying. "I threw one of them in a chair, which made the second more obliging, and she surrendered the keys."

"When I was about to open up, a third nurse threw a chair at me. I don't like getting chairs thrown at me, so I parked the nurse in a corner and unlocked the ward."

Akrell said Mrs. Kaage was clad only in a nightgown, robe and socks.

"She got caught climbing over the barbed wire fence and tore a hole in her nightgown," he added. The paper quoted Akrell as saying he had obtained clearance in advance at Bromma Airport, outside Stockholm, and took off without delay. Originally, he said, he had intended to head for Denmark, but bad weather forced him to change his plans.

Man Is Killed By Couple Driving Stolen Vehicle
White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—A New York city man was killed and his wife was injured here last night, police said, when their parked car was struck by a couple driving a stolen automobile.

Patrolman William Tumber identified the dead man as William Wickes, 59, of 6973 183rd street, Flushing, Queens. His wife, Edith, suffered multiple bruises and was taken to St. Agnes Hospital where her condition was described today as "fairly good."

Tumber said he was patrolling on his motorcycle when he saw Wickes changing a tire on a car parked near Westchester avenue. He had just warned Wickes and his wife to move, Tumber added. When a car approached, smashed the patrolman's motorcycle, and crashed into Wickes' car.

The patrolman jumped to safety to the side of the road. He arrested the couple in the second car and summoned an ambulance but Wickes was dead.

During the excitement following the accident, the arrested couple slipped from a police car and escaped. Police said the vehicle in which they had been riding had been stolen from Fred Malino, of 165 Millcrest avenue, Port Chester, N. Y.

A police alarm for the missing couple was sent out.

Miller Is Referee
Walter J. Miller has been appointed referee in the matter of Shaver's Bus Charter Service, Inc., action to compel the trustees of School District No. 2, town of Esopus, to make and execute a contract with the petitioner for transportation of school children from Tilton to Kingston High School for the school year 1947-48. A. W. Lent appeared for the petitioner and Abraham Streifer for the trustees of the school district. Referee Miller alleged that the contract for transportation of pupils should be awarded to it, as low bidder. The matter was heard before Isidore Bookstein at special term of Supreme Court on October 3 and at that time he held a question of fact was involved and directed that a referee be named to take testimony.

Uniform Saves Him
A padded football uniform apparently saved William Atkins of 61 Van Buren street from injury when he was struck by the mirror of a truck while running after a football Monday, according to a police report. William Carney of Hurley, driver of a Thompsons Laundry truck reported at 4:15 Monday that the youth ran out of a yard on Cedar street near Sterling street, in pursuit of the ball. He came in contact with the mirror of the truck, the report said, but claimed no injury.

C.I.O. Brings Out Official Statement On Foreign Policy

Boston, Oct. 14 (AP)—The C.I.O.'s official declaration on foreign policy came out today—a plea for all nations to banish war talk, use "self-restraint," and "not" interfere with the independence of other peoples.

The C.I.O. convention, now in its second day, is virtually certain to approve the statement before the week ends. It was issued by the convention's resolutions committee.

The declaration contains no blanket endorsement of American foreign policy. It strongly asserts that "the C.I.O. is an American institution" with allegiance to America only. But it says Americans have a right to "discuss, commend or criticize" U. S. foreign policy.

The resolution seems to steer somewhere between those who would like to criticize America's foreign policy and those who would like to criticize Russia's.

It doesn't mention by name the "Marshall plan" of helping European countries to aid themselves and one another. Secretary of State Marshall will address the convention tomorrow. The statement does urge prompt U. S. action to provide food and other "economic aid" to countries abroad.

At that point appears the following sentence: "We also urge under no circumstance should food or any other aid given by any country be used as a means of coercing free and needy people in the exercise of their rights of independence and self-government or to fan the flames of civil warfare."

Another brief flurry occurred yesterday in the long history of attempts to bring the C.I.O. and A.F.L. together. C.I.O. President Philip Murray sent a telegram to the A.F.L. convention in San Francisco, urging joint political action.

A.F.L. President William Green quickly rejected the idea because of the oft-repeated A.F.L. position that the two bodies must merge into one, before any joint program can be undertaken.

4,000 Teamsters

rail express shipments will be more gradual, a company spokesman said.

Shipments from the Pacific coast were accepted, beginning at midnight, and plans were made for further curtailment of the embargo as the congestion here is reduced.

The drivers voted to return to work and submit their demands for a 15% cent hourly wage increase and a reduction of the work week from 44 to 40 hours to a presidential board set up under the Railway Labor Act. Drivers now receive $58.10 a week and helpers $49.36.

Their decision was reached on the recommendation of a three-man fact-finding committee named by Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Meanwhile, in Washington another presidential emergency board recommended a 15 1/2-cent-an-hour wage increase for teamsters employed by the Express Agency in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco and Chicago.

The unions had demanded a 40-cent increase for the 3,500 drivers in the seven cities. Unlike the dispute in those cities, the metropolitan area strike centered mainly around the workers' demand for a reduction in their work week.

Mayor O'Dwyer said that Theodore W. Kheel, director of the city's division of labor relations, will go to Washington tomorrow to "discuss all facts" in connection with the formation of the mediation board.

Telegrams, the mayor added, also have been sent President Truman and Francis O'Neill, acting chairman of the National Mediation Board.

Meanwhile, a post office spokesman here said that the number of parcel post packages piled up as a result of the express strike had been reduced two-third during the past two days.

But curtailment of parcel post mailing hours to 8 p. m. instead of 8 p. m. at most stations, will continue today and probably the remainder of the week, postal officials said.

be interested in running with Dewey.

Taft has kept publicly silent about the New York vote, but he has told associates that he appreciated Stassen's action in endorsing the Taft-Hartley labor bill just before Congress enacted it over President Truman's veto.

The Ohio senator has noted to friends that Dewey said nothing at the time of the Taft-Stassen record which thus has grown up as a result of some careful maneuvering to keep out of each other's way politically until the chips are down at the Philadelphia convention.

Taft, for instance, may elect not to enter any preferential primaries outside his own state, although backers say that any such decision will hinge more on whether he feels he can get away from Congress long enough to campaign than on any consideration for Stassen.

On the other hand, Stassen, whose campaign calls for taking a chance in practically every other primary, may stay discreetly out of Ohio.

Taft's future course is expected to be determined by some extent at strategy conferences he has booked with his associates in Ohio this week.

Stassen, already formally launched with the announcement of his candidacy, will get a second start with a November 24 rally in Miami. He has also indicated that this will open his active campaigning, ending what they called the "build-up" phase.

Varied Opinions Face Grand Jury In Reznick Death
Lake George, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Differing medical opinions today confronted a Warren county grand jury opening a new probe into the death of Reva Reznick, 23-year-old New York city nurse.

The pretty brunette's bruised body was found Aug. 1 in shallow water off a beach near the hotel where she had been vacationing.

Conclusions from two autopsies were recorded at an inquest Aug. 19 and 20. Dr. Morris Maslon of the county bacteriological laboratory said death had been caused by "asphyxia due to drowning."

Dr. Wray D. Storey, pathologist at the William H. Singer Memorial Research Laboratory of the Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa., said the cause had been "multiple contusions of face, trunk and extremities."

Coroner Hilton Dier returned a verdict of accidental death, bringing a shouted charge by the nurse's father, Myer Reznick of Newark, N. J., that she had been murdered.

District Attorney J. Clarence Herlihy called for the grand jury investigation under pressure from the Reznick family's attorney, Maurice A. Nernberg, and Judge Samuel A. Weiss, both of Pittsburgh, where several of the nurse's relatives live.

Nernberg contended county authorities had "whitewashed" the case, and the judge wrote Governor Dewey that he suspected murder.

More than 16 persons were summoned to the grand jury hearings expected to continue for several days.

Among them was John G. Finn, 23, of Stamford, Conn., a bellhop who testified at the inquest that he and Miss Reznick quarreled a few hours before her body was discovered. Finn said the nurse had slapped him and he had struck her after he made advances in a parked automobile. Then she left the car and he could not find her, he said.

Hialeah and Miami Springs, where thousands were reported homeless as flood waters continued to rise.

Miami, Fla., Oct. 14 (AP)—Relief agencies stepped up their efforts to aid thousands of flood victims in southeast Florida today, as waters from the hurricane of Saturday and Sunday continued to rise.

The Red Cross assigned additional disaster relief workers to Dodge, Broward and Palm Beach counties as the tons of water dumped on the area by the latest storm made thousands of homes untenable.

An additional $1,250,000 was approved for relief and rehabilitation work. W. W. Jefferson, Red Cross southeastern area manager, said there was no indication that the flood waters would recede soon.

The Coast Guard planned an aerial survey of all the marooned areas between Fort Lauderdale and Homestead, including Greater Miami. Planes were to drop message blocks so flood victims, stranded since Saturday, could signal for help.

The Miami Springs town council, in a special session, announced a state of emergency and appealed to Gov. Millard E. Caldwell for aid. All roads and streets leading into the area were blocked.

Zionist Movement Welcomes Report On Palestine

The United States Government's statement on Palestine before the United Nations, supporting the majority report of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, was welcomed on October 11 by the American Zionist Emergency Council, which speaks for the entire organized Zionist movement in the United States, according to Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel.

Expressing the hope that the United States declaration "will hasten an early and just decision," the Council at the same time declared: "The American people and freedom-loving nations will, we are confident, be on the alert to prevent such modifications and whittling down of the area designated as the Jewish state as to render that state utterly unviable. Acceptance of the recommendations of the majority report represents an enormous sacrifice on the part of the Jewish people. It cannot and must not be asked to sacrifice further."

The text of the Council's statement follows:

"The American Zionist Emergency Council, speaking on behalf of the entire organized Zionist movement in the United States, welcomes the statement of the Government of the United States on Palestine before the United Nations. We are pleased to note that the United States supports the majority report of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, that it has called for a solution at this session of the General Assembly, and has expressed willingness to participate in the implementation of the solution. The United States reaffirmation of our country's historic connection with the upbuilding of the Jewish National Home and its warning against the threat or use of force against the implementation of the U.N. decision are most gratifying.

"We are hopeful that the United States declaration will hasten an early and just decision. The American people and freedom-loving nations will, we are confident, be on the alert to prevent such modifications and whittling down of the area designated as the Jewish state as to render that state utterly unviable. Acceptance of the recommendations of the majority report represents an enormous sacrifice on the part of the Jewish people. It cannot and must not be asked to sacrifice further."

CAKE BELONGS ON BUDGET MENU

Eat some of your eggs in wholesome desserts like this tempting coffee cream cake.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Staff Writer

Despite your efforts to keep down food costs, you can still give your family cake occasionally. The eggs used in cake add protein, so does the milk. Cake can be good food and should be counted as part of the day's total nutrition.

Coffee Cream Cake (Serves 8)

Two and one-quarter cups milk, 1/3 cup ground coffee, 2/3 cup sugar, 1/3 cup flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, slightly beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 8-inch sponge layers, confectioners' sugar.

Scald milk with coffee in top of double boiler over hot water. Strain through fine sieve or cheese cloth. Combine and mix sugar, flour and salt; add slightly beaten eggs. Add hot coffee milk mixture and return to double boiler.

Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until thickened; cover and cook 5 minutes longer. Remove from heat, add vanilla. Cool. Spread between sponge layers and sprinkle top with confectioners' sugar.

Still prefer butter with your meals despite the price difference? Then try Butter Whip.

It is real butter, it has the same consistency and taste as the butter you've been buying, the color of sweet butter. Use it whenever you use butter, except in frying and baking. The formula takes only 15 minutes to prepare.

Butter Whip

One pound butter, 1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin, 1 can evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon salt. Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Cut butter into small pieces. Set over hot water and stir until soft enough to beat. DO NOT MELT THE BUTTER. Add dissolved gelatin and salt to the milk.

Gradually whip milk into butter with a rotary egg beater until milk does not separate. Add coloring, if desired. Pack in dish or container and place in refrigerator until hard. Allow half hour for the mixture to harden.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Canned citrus juice, oatmeal griddle cakes, butter whip, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Dried kidney beans with green pepper, tomatoes and onions, whole wheat French bread, fortified margarine, stewed ginger pears, tea, milk.

DINNER: Tomato juice, scalloped haddock and vegetables with mashed potato top, buttered carrots, cabbage and apple salad, coffee cream cake, coffee, milk.

K. of C. Ball Draws 2,000 Persons to City Auditorium

Knights Present Their 26th Annual Dance; Glen Gray's Orchestra Is Heard

Approximately 2,000 people gathered at the municipal auditorium Monday night for the 26th annual Knights of Columbus Ball, the first of the season. Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra, who provided music for the entertainment and dancing proved his nationwide popularity with the Kingston audience.

Five acts of vaudeville with Peter Larken master of ceremonies, highlighted the evening. The show was presented in the center of the dance floor with the audience completely surrounding the area. Some seats were even placed on the regular stage of the auditorium.

Danny Dennis with his bicycle balance act opened the show and was one of the main events of the vaudeville. He rode the one-wheel variety on both high and low pedestals while he used his hands to juggle clubs, balls and hoops. He also did a routine of balancing and catching balls on the end of sticks.

The dance team of Sinclair and Alda were one of the most graceful teams to appear on programs here recently. Their style was designed with an ever present fluidness of movement. As an encore they performed a short comedy dance.

Bob Kennedy returned by request to sing for the K. of C. Ball audience and was again probably the most popular act of the evening. A baritone, he was most generous with his numbers, singing a medley from "Oklahoma" in which he was starred on Broadway; "The Girl That I Marry," "Mam'selle," "Donkey Serenade," and duets with Marion Carter.

"Wanting You," and "I'll See You Again."

Miss Carter, soprano, who has appeared at the Radio City Music Hall sang a medley from "Show Boat," as well as some of the popular songs of the day. For an encore she sang "Begin the Beguine."

The magician was Prince Mandez. His tricks included numerous card acts, finding lighted cigarettes in the air, and a ventriloquist number in which he used William Duffy of the audience as a "Charlie McCarthy" partner. Just prior to the show the orchestra played several numbers with vocals by the players. Afterward the orchestra played for dancing.

The hall was decorated with red, white and blue bunting and gold stars. The local chapter K. of C. is celebrating its golden jubilee this month.

Joseph McTague, chairman of the ball, welcomed the audience and introduced Glen Gray.

Flowers were sold as the people arrived at the auditorium. Refreshments were sold in the dining room.

Body Is Found in River

Local police were informed today that the body of an unidentified woman whose age was estimated between 60 and 65, was taken from the Hudson river near the Beacon ferry slip Monday. She was described as having blue eyes and brown hair, about medium height and fully clothed. All police of the area were notified in an effort to identify her.

No other washer has done so much wash... for so many families... and done the whole gigantic job automatically. No other washer has saved so many housewives so much hard work... so much soap... so much hot water... and washed the clothes so thoroughly, yet gently. With the Bendix automatic Washer, all you do is set the dial, add soap... and you're through. All by itself, the Bendix washes, rinses three times and damp-dries clothes. It even cleans itself and shuts off automatically, so you don't have to stay in the house!

Is the Bendix REALLY best? Ask the girls who know! One of the million lucky Bendix owners is a neighbor of yours. So you don't have to take our word for it. Ask HER. Does it do all the work of washing? Does it get clothes spanking clean? Is it thrifty with soap and hot water? Just ask her!
